

The invention relates to a novel conditioning agent based on polysuccinimide, its hydrolysates or its partial hydrolysates, for preventing deposits in standing or flowing water systems.